We’d like to hear from you

Use the envelope in the middle of the magazine to write us our class note or debut a note via the web alum.ucsc.edu (go to Class Notes)

We call (from top to bottom) on the following students to let us know how they’re doing:

9 Sarah Diaz-Bastin is working as a fine artist in San Francisco and recently had her first mixed show dedicated at the Quan Yin Healing Arts Building; her web page is available online at www.sarahdiazbastin.com.

9 Kristian Jensen is entering his third year of a Ph.D. program in anthropology and Ocean Family, where he works on composition.

9 Marnie Lynn Granados is compiling her first mixed class at UC Irvine College of Medicine’s Program in Medical Education for the Latino Community; a medical training program designed to meet the increasing demand for physicians who can address the distinct needs of Latinx students.

9 Douglas Maynard is a lawyer practicing with the law firm of Maunder & Hagan in Santa Cruz County. San Jose Mercury recently named him one of the top attorneys in Silicon Valley.

76 Janice Coleango lives with her husband and two children; in addition, she recently published a book, titled Embodied Wisdom: What Our Ancestral Genes Say about Our Art of Living.

9 Barbara Delgado completed her doctorate in modern Latin American history from UCLA; she also works as a librarian at the Ingleside and Beverly Hills Public Libraries. Allison JCC is seeking a new assistant manager and development advisor for Illinois governor Rod Blagojevich.

9 David Collins graduated in May 2004 from Howard University School of Law and was admitted to the District of Columbia Bar in 2004.
9 Kirsten Berzon recently began working at Berkeley Repertory Theatre as the special events manager;
she lives with her partner, Kayla,
and their dog, Whiskey.

9 Susan Harrison tends in London, where she is finishing graduate work in botany at the Natural History Museum and the Imperial College of Science and Technology in London; she has published in a number of botanical publications and is currently working on her dissertation and managing a research project.

9 Anna Stiglitz is a freelance reporter for Mitsubishi Research Institute and for the Ship Building Association; she has recently published her first book, titled How to Survive an Alcan Highway;
she recently traveled to China;
she has been on the cutting edge of the Alcan Highway; she recently published her first book, Hollywood Goes to High School:
Cinema, Schools, and American Culture (Worth, 2005).

9 indoors with her children, Savanna and Eain, who are living now in Detroit, where Matt is a deacon at Church of the Holy Resurrection.

9 Sarah De La Guardia retired in 2004 after 32 years of work for the State of California; he began as a clerk and ended up working as a chief deputy attorney general in the Office of the Attorney General.
He is serving as an attorney general and life-long resident of Berkeley.

9 John Leech was ordained at the Sacred Order of Deaconists at St. Patrick’s Episcopal Church, 9 Bonnie Hoag is a senior administrator in the Office of the Dean of Students at the University of California at Davis; a former Award for California Women Lawyers, the statewide women’s bar association; he was named associate dean for student affairs in his alma mater.

9 Chris Linson is an assistant professor at New York University and wasappointed senior associate dean for the School of Liberal Arts at the distinctive needs of Latinx
students.

9 Frances Liu lives and works in Oakland as a physical therapist;
he is engaged to be married and looking forward to the next phase of his life.

9 John Gordan, an assistant professor of biology at Loyola University in Chicago, received an NIH grant for research on kidney transplantation; she had a son, Nicolas, in February, 2005.
9 Jane Parks-McKay is a freelance journalist and runs a 10-year-old public relations firm that represents all businesses all over the world; she recently contributed two family recipes to the Meals in a Minute Family Cookbook, compiled by Traci
Pou—a beneficiary for the Alzheimer’s Association.

9 Sarah Diaz-Bastin is working as a fine artist in San Francisco and
recently had her first mixed
show dedicated at the Quan Yin Healing Arts Building; her web page is
available online at www.sarahdiazbastin.com.

9 Kristian Jensen is entering
his third year of a Ph.D. program
in anthropology and Ocean Family,
where he works on composition.

9 Marnie Lynn Granados is
compiling her first mixed class
at UC Irvine College of Medicine’s Program in Medical Education for
the Latino Community; a medical
training program designed to meet
the increasing demand for physicians
who can address the distinct needs of Latinx
students.

9 Douglas Maynard is a lawyer
practicing with the law firm
of Maunder & Hagan in Santa Cruz County. San Jose Mercury recently
named him one of the top attorneys
in Silicon Valley.

76 Janice Coleango lives with her husband and two children; in addition,
she recently published a book,
titled Embodied Wisdom: What Our
Ancestral Genes Say about Our Art of Living.

9 Barbara Delgado completed
her doctorate in modern Latin American history from UCLA; she also works as a librarian at the Ingleside and Beverly Hills Public Libraries. Allison JCC is
seeking a new assistant manager and
development advisor for Illinois
governor Rod Blagojevich.

9 David Collins graduated in
May 2004 from Howard University School of Law and was admitted to the District of Columbia Bar in 2004.
9 Kirsten Berzon recently
began working at Berkeley Repertory Theatre as the special events manager;
she lives with her partner, Kayla,
and their dog, Whiskey.

9 Susan Harrison tends in London, where she is finishing
graduate work in botany at the
Natural History Museum and the Imperial College of Science and Technology in London; she has
published in a number of botanical
publications and is currently working on her dissertation and
managing a research project.

9 Anna Stiglitz is a freelance
reporter for Mitsubishi Research Institute and for the Ship Building Association; she has
recently published her first book,
titled How to Survive an Alcan Highway;
she recently traveled to China;
she has been on the cutting edge of
the Alcan Highway; she recently
published her first book,
Hollywood Goes to High School:
Cinema, Schools, and American Culture (Worth, 2005).

9 indoors with her children, Savanna
and Eain, who are living now in Detroit,
where Matt is a deacon at Church of the Holy Resurrection.

9 Sarah De La Guardia retired in 2004 after 32 years of work
for the State of California; he began
as a clerk and ended up working as
a chief deputy attorney general in the Office of the Attorney General.
He is serving as an attorney general and
life-long resident of Berkeley.

9 John Leech was ordained
at the Sacred Order of Deaconists
at St. Patrick’s Episcopal Church, 9 Bonnie Hoag is a senior
administrator in the Office of the Dean of Students at the University of California at Davis; a former Award for California Women Lawyers, the statewide
women’s bar association; he was
named associate dean for student affairs in his alma mater.

9 Chris Linson is an assistant professor at New York University and
wasappointed senior associate dean for
the School of Liberal Arts at the distinctive needs of Latinx
students.

9 Frances Liu lives and works
in Oakland as a physical therapist;
he is engaged to be married and
looking forward to the next phase of his life.

9 John Gordan, an assistant professor of biology at Loyola University in Chicago, received an NIH grant for research on kidney
transplantation; she had a son, Nicolas, in February, 2005.
9 Jane Parks-McKay is a freelance journalist and runs a 10-year-old public relations firm that represents all businesses all over the
world; she recently contributed two
family recipes to the Meals in a Minute
Family Cookbook, compiled by Traci
Pou—a beneficiary for the Alzheimer’s Association.
Graduation Memories

It's Never Too Late.
Maybe you were too broke, saddled with student loans, or maybe you didn't think it was cool.

DIPLOMA FRAMES
Is your framed yet?

Times change. Preserve your graduate’s memories, or rekindle your own.
It’s never too late.

slugstore.ucsc.edu

Serving the UC Santa Cruz campus community since 1965 831.459.4544